Notes from Denise:

If you do go to the website, you will notice that cabins start at $429 per person...these are also available to us but I didn't put any on hold due to the fact they are on Deck 2 and 3....small and inside, but they are an option if someone is on a budget. A better choice would be to team up with some classmates and share the cost of a cabin that holds 3 or 4 people. You would get a better cabin on a higher deck at about the same price. Email me if you'd like breakdown on that pricing. You get a lot of engine noise plus movement of the ship down on Deck 2, 3, and 4. The cabins we have a hold on are on Deck 5 and above for that reason. If you need a roommate, contact Denise. A $100 deposit needs to be paid to the travel agent by SEPTEMBER 5, 2007, in order to hold your room. No guarantee on these prices after that date.

Depending on the number going we can add nice benefits, like a cocktail party with open bar. The cruise line wants 100 in a group to do this but I'm working with an agent if we only have 30 or 40 people.

I think it would be great if classmates brought their adult kids and grandkids on this. It would be nice to meet each others families.

The transfers from the Miami Airport are $29 to the Port and the travel agent is lining up a hotel for those flying in the day before. You could spend the day touring South Beach or renting a car and going to the Everglades or the upper Keys.

The cruise fee includes your food, cabin, and entertainment; alcohol is extra. The prices listed on page 2 also include port charges. You will need a passport (<http://travel.state.gov/passport>). This process is taking about 3 months so plan ahead.

On-going and current discussion about the cruise can be found on the Toul Forum (<http://forums.delphiforums.com/toul/start>). Or if you have questions, you can either contact Denise or the travel agent. We'll send out another newsletter in the spring.

Notes from Margitta:

I just wanted to add my 2-cents as I did not go on the 2000 Toul cruise because I thought cruising was too expensive, too crowded, and too confining. I have since been on several cruises; David says I have a cruise-monkey on my back. I absolutely love it. David was equally reluctant to go on a cruise, but now loves it...we use all his vacation for cruises. The food and service is wonderful, there is entertainment of all kinds, there is a casino, the ocean is beautiful, the ports of call offer a variety of things to do...or not. There is privacy if that is what you want and if clothing is a concern, formal night is optional...you can dine in the casual dining room if you choose. We had friends that reserved their spot on a cruise at the last minute and had to settle for an inside cabin. She was concerned about claustrophobia and darkness, but ended up liking the room very much. If you are prone to motion sickness, the ships provide free dramamine. So please consider joining us.

Future Reunion Discussion

It has been traditional to decide on the next reunion at the current reunion. The location is decided upon by whoever volunteers to host it. So if you want to host a reunion in the future and can't make the next reunion, let me know and I'll bring it up to the attendees. It also has been stated that "official" reunions will be at a minimum of every 2 years and in the 3rd or 4th week in June. Also, know that if you host a reunion, the fee that you require should cover all your expenses.

At Reunion 2006 there was discussion about an overseas reunion in France in 2010. Also, Lynn Rice Wasinger '66 would like to host a reunion in Wichita when the Overseas Brat museum is completed (ground has not been broken), so that might happen in 2010 or 2012.

Previous Reunions:

507th Engineer Company Reunion

The 507th Engineer Company from Toul is hosting a reunion in Branson, MO, Oct 15-19, 2007, and have invited all of us who were there, not just GIs. Reunion Central is the Grand Plaza Hotel for $89 per night. An activities package of $225 includes, among other things, the Jim Stafford Show, a dinner, a dinner cruise on a paddle wheeler, a group photo, etc. Partial packages are also available. For those of you who hung out at TED, the 507th is the company across the street from the tennis courts and the gym.

In Memoriam:

SMALL WORLD, N'EST CE PAS?

I am continually amazed just how 'small' our world is—let me explain. My wife, Cathy, and I were lucky enough to be able to retire early, and build a mountain home in western North Carolina. We truly enjoy our time spent here, and have met many new friends. Most are transplants, like us! We split our year between Burnsville, NC and Melbourne, FL.

Our local Humane Society holds an annual flea market to raise necessary funds to supplement their budget. We attend this worthwhile event each year, and always find bargains we can't live without. Little did I know at last year's market I would find someone from my FATHER'S past...

I was looking at some electronic items that had been donated for sale and overheard a man next to me mention "Toul Rosieres". When he concluded his discussion, I asked him about Toul. Turns out he was stationed there in the early 60s, when my family was also there. My Dad worked for the DoD as a civilian in the Personnel office, and my sister and I attended the DoDs high school. As you can imagine, it was quite a surprise to find out we had overlapped our tenures at Toul.

The retired Air Force fellow's wife was also there at the market, and I went over to talk to her. She is a French native who grew up around Toul, met a nice serviceman and married him at the base. As we talked, she asked about why my family was stationed there. When I told her my Dad worked in the Personnel Office, she asked his name----and then realized she knew my Dad! She worked on base in a similar office and was very familiar with my Dad. Talk about a small world! Here we are in the mountains of North Carolina, at a Humane Society flea market, and I meet a woman who worked with my Dad forty-some years ago in France.

We now count Skip and Nicole Blankenship as new friends, as they also live here in Burnsville and spend part of the year in Florida, too. Who knows who else I'll meet, or just miss meeting, from the past????
